1. INTRODUCTION

This report presents the findings of the Basic Education Teacher Mapping and Gap Analysis Exercise conducted across Zamfara State. The exercise was undertaken to establish a comprehensive database of teachers within the basic and secondary education systems, identify their deployment locations, assess teacher availability against student enrollment, and determine existing workforce gaps across the State.

The initiative forms part of Zamfara State Government's commitment to strengthening the education sector through evidence-based planning and improved human resource management. The findings are intended to guide the development of a phased and costed teacher recruitment, deployment, training, and retention strategy aimed at improving access to quality education and achieving acceptable teacher-student ratios across all levels of education.

The exercise further provides a foundation for strategic decision-making on teacher redistribution, workforce optimization, capacity development, and future investments in the education sector.

2. OBJECTIVES

The primary objectives of the teacher mapping and gap analysis exercise were to:

- Conduct a comprehensive enumeration and verification of teachers across pre-primary, primary, junior secondary, and senior secondary schools in Zamfara State.
- Identify and map teacher duty stations across all Local Government Areas (LGAs) of the State.
- Assess teacher distribution, qualifications, subject specialization, and deployment patterns to determine staffing gaps and surpluses.
- Analyze teacher-student ratios at different levels of education and compare them with approved standards and State planning benchmarks.
- Determine the current and projected teacher workforce requirements needed to support improved learning outcomes.

- Provide a basis for the development of a multi-year, costed teacher recruitment, deployment, and capacity-building plan.
- Generate evidence-based recommendations for sustainable teacher workforce management and improved education service delivery across Zamfara State.

3. METHODOLOGY

A mixed-methods approach was adopted to ensure a comprehensive assessment of teacher availability, deployment, and workforce requirements across the State.

3.1 DATA COLLECTION

The exercise involved the collection and validation of teacher and enrollment data from schools, education management authorities, and relevant government institutions. Data sources included the Annual School Census (ASC), teacher nominal rolls, administrative records, and field verification exercises. Stakeholder consultations were also conducted with key education sector actors to validate findings and obtain contextual insights.

3.2 SCHOOL MAPPING AND DISTRIBUTION ANALYSIS

School and teacher deployment data were analyzed to determine the distribution of teachers across educational levels, schools, and Local Government Areas. This enabled the identification of disparities in teacher allocation and areas experiencing critical shortages or surpluses.

4. WORKFORCE PLANNING AND PROJECTION

The findings were utilized to project future teacher requirements and inform workforce planning scenarios, including recruitment needs, redeployment opportunities, teacher training requirements, and phased implementation strategies aimed at achieving optimal teacher-student ratios.

5. FINANCIAL AND RESOURCE ANALYSIS

The exercise further examined the resource implications associated with addressing identified workforce gaps, including teacher recruitment, deployment, professional development, and retention requirements. This provides a basis for estimating the financial commitments required to strengthen the education workforce and improve education service delivery across Zamfara State.

6. ENROLLMENT OVERVIEW

The enrollment data for Zamfara State captures both the pre-primary and primary education segments. Current records indicate a total enrollment of 17,659 pupils in pre-primary schools and 651,306 pupils in primary schools, bringing the combined enrollment figure to 668,965 learners.

These learners are distributed across approximately 1,671 schools statewide, supported by a total workforce of 8,049 teachers.

7. GAP ANALYSIS

A detailed teacher gap analysis was conducted using student enrollment figures and approved teacher-student ratio benchmarks. The analysis assessed current staffing levels, estimated teacher requirements, and quantified deficits and surpluses across pre-primary, primary, junior secondary, and senior secondary education levels

The Annual School Census 2023/2024 and mapping exercise revealed that the current average teacher-pupil ratio across many schools is approximately 1:70, while in some locations the ratio ranges between 1:80 and 1:85. The nationally acknowledged benchmark remains 1 teacher to 40 pupils (1:40).

While Zamfara State continues to work toward achieving the approved standard through improved infrastructure, teacher recruitment, and provision of learning resources, the State has adopted an interim operational target ratio of 1:60 for planning and projection purposes.

This adopted benchmark therefore forms the basis for the current teacher availability and gap analysis.

7.2 SECONDARY EDUCATION OVERVIEW

Based on the Annual School Census, secondary education in Zamfara State is categorized into two segments:

- Junior Secondary Schools (JSS 1–3) — forming part of the Basic Education structure (Years 1–9)
- Senior Secondary Schools (SSS 1–3)

Although this distinction exists administratively, most school infrastructures currently operate as integrated secondary school environments accommodating both JSS and SSS sections within the same premises.

7.3 JUNIOR SECONDARY SCHOOLS (JSS)

The State has on the interim adopted teacher-student ratio of 1:45 within the Junior Secondary School segment

- Teacher Surplus: 389

Estimated Teacher Surplus for SSS: 389 Teachers

7.5 OVERALL SECONDARY SCHOOL ANALYSIS

Due to the integrated nature of most secondary school premises, combined administrative oversight by the Teaching Service Board (TSB), and the flexible deployment of teachers across both JSS and SSS sections, teacher scheduling and classroom assignments are often managed collectively within the same school environment.

As a result, the effective teacher availability for secondary schools in Zamfara State is currently consolidated as follows:

8. Action on the Teacher Surplus

While Zamfara State remains committed to achieving the national standard teacher-student ratio of 1:40 in the secondary education sector, analysis based on the State's interim planning benchmark of 1:45 indicates an estimated surplus of 364 teachers within the secondary school system.

To effectively utilize this available workforce, the State intends to undertake a comprehensive teacher competency assessment, retraining, and professional development programme to evaluate teachers' qualifications, subject mastery, pedagogical skills, and overall classroom effectiveness. This process will help identify areas requiring capacity strengthening and ensure that the teaching workforce is adequately prepared to support improved learning outcomes.

Subject to the outcome of these assessments, the State will progressively advance toward the full implementation of the 1:40 teacher-student ratio in secondary schools.

In addition, further workforce planning and deployment reviews will be conducted to explore the strategic redeployment of suitably qualified and high-performing teachers from the secondary education system to support the primary education sector, where teacher shortages remain more pronounced. Such redeployment would provide immediate relief to underserved primary schools while maintaining the operational needs of secondary schools.

Simultaneously, the State will continue targeted recruitment efforts to address existing teacher gaps and ensure that both primary and secondary education levels are adequately staffed to meet current and future enrollment demands.

9. Key Findings from the Baseline Mapping Exercise

The findings of the baseline teacher mapping and gap analysis reveal that Zamfara State is experiencing a significant teacher shortage across the education sector. This deficit remains substantial even when assessed against the State's interim planning benchmark of one teacher to sixty students (1:60), in the Primary schools sector which is less stringent than the recommended standard of one teacher to forty students (1:40).

In addition to the overall shortage, the analysis identified considerable disparities in teacher distribution across schools and Local Government Areas. While some schools are relatively overstaffed, others remain critically understaffed. These imbalances are largely attributable to factors such as teachers' preference for urban and semi-urban postings, as well as security challenges affecting certain communities and hard-to-reach locations.

Consequently, addressing the teacher workforce challenge in Zamfara State will require more than recruitment alone. Priority actions should include the implementation of a strategic teacher redeployment programme, the introduction of appropriate incentive mechanisms to encourage service in underserved and hard-to-reach areas, and the strengthening of deployment compliance and monitoring systems to ensure equitable distribution of teachers across all schools. Together, these measures will help optimize the existing workforce while supporting the State's long-term goal of achieving acceptable teacher-student ratios and improving education outcomes.

10. Teacher Workforce Planning Considerations (Next Key Actions)

The current teacher mapping exercise and gap analysis are primarily based on the teacher-student ratio, which provides an overall assessment of workforce adequacy across the education sector. However, the Government of Zamfara State recognizes that addressing teacher shortages requires more than numerical staffing assessments alone.

As a result, the State is undertaking a more detailed review of the teaching workforce, focusing on teacher qualifications, subject specializations, competencies, performance records, and deployment patterns. This assessment is intended to identify gaps in subject-specific teaching capacity and ensure that teachers are appropriately matched to areas where their skills and expertise are most needed.

While this process is ongoing, the State will continue implementing targeted capacity-building, retraining, and professional development programmes aimed at strengthening teachers' subject knowledge and pedagogical competencies within the existing workforce. These interventions are expected to improve the utilization of available teachers and enhance the quality of instruction across schools.

To address the identified staffing deficits, the State has developed a five-year Teacher Recruitment, Redeployment, and Capacity Development Plan. The plan prioritizes the optimal use of existing human resources through strategic redeployment and retraining before large-scale recruitment is undertaken.

A comprehensive mid-term review of the five-year plan will be conducted to assess progress and evaluate the effectiveness of the redeployment and capacity-building interventions. The findings of this review will determine whether additional targeted recruitment is required, particularly in critical subject areas where shortages persist despite retraining and redistribution efforts. Where necessary, future recruitment exercises will place greater emphasis on subject-specific competencies and teachable specializations to ensure that workforce gaps are addressed in a sustainable and effective manner.

The findings of this review will determine whether additional targeted recruitment is required, particularly in critical subject areas where shortages persist despite retraining and redistribution efforts.
